Board Backs Sugar Bill In Congress

Support for a new bill in Congress which would up sugar quotas for Palm Beach County growers, was voted by the County Commission Monday, in a resolution adopted by the board.

Commissioner Paul Rardin, Canal Point, who called for the resolution, said the present sugar act expires June 30 and at that time new quotas will be set.

The board approved the resolution and instructed that it be sent to Florida's entire congressional delegation.

Chairman Lake Lytal said "this legislation means a great deal to this county, more than anything else at this time."

In recent months, millions of dollars have been channeled into the Everglades to be spent in raising and processing sugar cane. Increased quotas set by Congress would assure an expanding market for the product.

The Pastor of the Canal Point Baptist Church, Charles D. Stewart, revealed to his congregation his plans for his retirement from the active pastorate on his 65th Birthday, September 15, 1962.

At the conclusion of the prayer-meeting services Wednesday night, March 14, the pastor read his formal announcement concerning the provisions and date of his retirement. He said that some people had been confused about it because of some conflicting statements which had been circulated.

The concluding part of the prayer meeting services consisted of the pastor reading his formal statement concerning his retirement. This is the full statement he read:

"Believing that it is the Will of God for us to be and remain the Pastor of the Canal Point Baptist Church, until the date of my retirement which is September 15, 1962, I, Charles D. Stewart, Sr., announce to the membership and the congregation of the Canal Point Baptist Church that all my professional services connected with the pastorate of this Church shall terminate on the date of my retirement, September 15, 1962. After a two weeks vacation, beginning September 1, 1962, all the Church's financial obligations to me shall cease on the same date my retirement becomes effective.

"As a token of this my official and final statement to be issued by me concerning my retirement, I ask that the clerk of the Canal Point Baptist Church cause the imprint of the Church's Seal to be placed on this written statement, and on two other copies for each of the following purposes:

"One copy for the Church Clerk's file; one copy for the Church Deacons' file; one copy for the Pastor's file.

"Submitted this date, March 14, 1962, at the request of the Deacons and of the other Church Members for permanent records.

Charles D. Stewart, Pastor

Much Push Behind 1962 Sugar Quota

CLEWISTON — Congress and President Kennedy have been urged by the Florida State Cabinet to pass a new sugar act increasing Florida's allotment from 600,000 to 900,000 tons.

Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner drew up the resolution after meeting with representatives from all of Florida's sugar producers at Clewiston Inn recently.

The present sugar act which was passed in 1948 and was extended twice is due to expire next June 30. The resolution stated all domestic sugar producers have agreed on provisions of a new sugar act.

Largest producer in Florida is U. S. Sugar Corporation which is headquartered at Clewiston.

5,786 Folks In P. B. Co. Get State Aid

Thomas E. Penick, Chairman of District 10 Welfare Board of the State Department of Public Welfare, reported that in Palm Beach County 5,786 persons were assisted in the four categories of public assistance for the month of February 1962.

A total of 1,880 persons received Old Age Assistance in the amount of $84,746. 95 persons received Aid to the Blind, totaling $5,717. 888 families, representing 2808 children, received Aid to Dependent Children in the amount of $5,764. 324 persons received Aid to the Disabled in the amount of $17,805.

In addition 451 children received service during the month, 234 of whom were in foster homes. The total state and local cost for these child welfare services was $13,087.37.

There were nine adoption petitions studied for the Circuit-Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placing agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the court.

Palm Beach County is also represented on the District 10 Welfare Board by the Reverend Paul M. Cassen, Mrs. Helen R. Tedder, Mrs. Helen D. Woodward of West Palm Beach and Mrs. M. H. Bleach, Pahokee.

Cleary Bros. Will Build Ramie Road Bridge For $15,333

Cleary Brothers Construction Company of West Palm Beach was low bidder on the proposed bridge over Pahokee Drainage District canal on the new Ramie Mill Road south from Connors Highway, according to County Commissioner Paul Rardin, under whose direction the road is being constructed.

The bid by Cleary Brothers—one of four received—was $15,333. The West Palm, Beach construction concern is one of the finest in the state and has a Florida-wide reputation for excellent workmanship in bridge building.

The bridge is being built by Palm Beach county as a part of a three and 3-4 mile road project south from Connors Highway. The road passes to the east of the Ramie Mill and continues southward for an additional 2½ miles. Landowners in the area have participated splendidly in construction costs of the new road.

Sugar Chemicals By New Concern

The many, many chemicals needed to grow and process sugar cane into raw sugar will be available in the Glades through the efforts of a recently formed partnership. Sugarland Chemicals, located at 900 NW 12th Street in Belle Glade, is the new concern, operated by Howard Holman and Alfonso Fanjul, Jr.

The partnership brings together two men of varied experiences. Mr. Holman through years has been associated with outstanding chemical concerns catering to growers who were interested in putting winter vegetables on the market for northern consumption. He also has had much experience in the chemical business as it affects the cattle industry. Now, he will devote full time to sugar chemicals, having resigned his position with Hect-or Supply Company in Belle Glade. Mr. Fanjul brings to the company the necessary experience from the sugar production point of view. Through the years he has been associated with production and growth of sugar and is connected with Osceola Farms Co., Inc., five miles east of Canal Point.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

Members of the County Commission were in Ft. Lauderdale Thursday to present the boards road and bridge budget to the State Road Department.

The upcoming budget represents road projects which the commission seeks to have done during the coming year.

In other actions this week, the commission:

Received a resolution from the West Palm Beach Jaycees, pushing for a ban of assessments on nuclear fall out shelters. The commission was advised elimination of assessments would require a constitutional amendment.

Purchased an additional 25 voting machines on a bid of the Automatic Voting Machine Corp of Jamestown, New York.

Voted to apply to the Federal Aviation Agency for funds to help finance runway maintenance at International Airport—a job expected to cost about $63,000.

Received bids for construction of a 60 foot bridge on Ramie Road with Cleary Brothers Construction Co., West Palm Beach, the apparent low bidder at a price of $15,333.

at our northern border to prevent the pest from getting another foothold here.

In Florida we'll be cheering the effort about to start in Texas. We've been on a "hot seat" ever since the end of our own eradication program late in 1959, for fear we'd be re-infested by screwworms transported over here from the Southwest. Now I think we can look forward to an end soon to our worries. But until eradication is completed in the Southwest, we'll have to continue being on the alert, and that means continual watchfulness on the part of everyone—livestock owners and those who own working and hunting dogs or any domestic warm-blooded pets.

We'll be starting into our normal warm weather months before long and high temperatures combined with high humidity will begin to have their effect on the efficiency of some of our livestock.

Dairymen will be interested in a recent report from Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The U. S. Weather Bureau's temperature-humidity index (THI) can be used to estimate summer declines in milk production by dairy cattle, according to the report.

Up in Missouri two agricultural engineers and a dairy husbandman learned that a THI as low as 71 causes a drop in milk production of high producing cows (those giving 60 pounds of milk a day). The effect on humans is explained this way: When THI in an area reaches 75 about half the population will feel some discomfort. At THI of 80 or above nearly everyone feels uncomfortable. An air temperature of 85 degrees F. and humidity of 33 per cent is one combination that gives a THI of 75. At 100 degrees F and 58 per cent humidity, the THI is 90.

The researchers found that at THI of 75, milk production drops 10 per cent; at 80 it drops 20 per cent, and at 90 it drops about 45 per cent.

The answer: provide dairy shelters as cool as possible for your cows. Average temperature-humidity indexes are available from local weather stations.

In its work on Civil Defense projects, USDA-ARS is getting close to perfecting a commercially suitable method for removing strontium 90 from milk if the need arises. Carrying through on basic research done earlier in Canada, and by the Atomic Energy Commission and U. S. Public Health Service, ARS reports it is now possible to remove strontium 90 by passing milk through columns containing beads of chemicals known as ion-exchange resins. The process has been adapted to pilot plant scale and work is now underway to convert it to commercial scale.

Did you know that Roquefort is a trade name for an imported cheese made from sheep's milk? It's cow's milk counterpart is known as Bleu in France and blue in the United States, as Stilton in England, and as Gorgonzola in Italy.

And anyone offering cheese for sale as Roquefort had better be sure it is the bona fide imported product. If it isn't, they're liable to get tied up in a lawsuit by the importers or foreign manufacturers.

Butter is believed to have been an article of commerce since the First Century when it was shipped from India to ports of the Red Sea. I wonder how it was preserved in those days to keep it from turning rancid?

Southern Bell
— Growing with the Future —

I'm sure that Florida livestock owners — and those in our neighboring states of the Southeast — breathed a sigh of relief when the announcement was made in Washington recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture that a screwworm eradication program will get underway at once in Texas.

The task in the Lone Star state is going to be a big one. Much bigger than the problem we encountered in Florida during our successful program in 1958-59. We had the advantage here of being practically surrounded on three sides by water. In Texas, there will be a permanent danger of re-infestation from Mexico, so after the pest is wiped out there, some sort of permanent barrier will have to be maintained along the border or at some point further south across the entire land area of old Mexico.

The screwworm experts visualize a barrier probably 100 miles wide, possibly 50 miles on either side of the border to begin with in which sterile flies will be continuously dispersed. Original plans call for a sterile fly production plant, similar to the one we had at the Sebring airport, with a similar capacity—50 million to 75 million flies a week.

A USDA survey made in 1960, after we had completed our program in Florida, indicated such a barrier in the Southwest would be vital to any program there. The screwworm, native to Central America, spreads northward from overwintering areas as spring and summer progress. Each summer they have become established northward in the Midwestern states and last year were found as far north as Minnesota.

We had our own scare last fall when they broke out in Alabama and Georgia and USDA finally clamped on a rigid inspection line

Feed Grain Plan Period Ends Mar. 30

Growers who are still "thinking it over" about participating in the 1962 feed grain program were urged today not to delay any longer. The sign-up period extends only through March 30.

Farmers who take part in the feed grain program first file an intention-to-participate form in the ASCS County Office, indicating the number of corn and grain sorghum acres they intend to divert from production into a soil-conserving use. The minimum diversion is 20 percent of the farm's base acreage, but many farmers are indicating their intention to divert more than the minimum.

For participating in the feed grain program, farmers earn diversion payments, and they also qualify for price support on the normal production of their 1962 acreage of these crops. If the farmer wishes, up to about half the expected payment to be earned may be made at the time the application to take part in the program is filed.

A. R. Harrington, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, points out that a wide participation in the feed grain program this year will not only save the farmer the cost of planting and harvesting acreage of unneeded feed grains, but it will also continue to reduce the costly pileup of feed grains in government ownership, increase conservation of our farmland, and save dollars for every taxpayer through further reductions in government costs of storing, shipping, and handling government-owned grains.

$1,000 Fish Was Unusual Catch

TAMPA—Once there was a fish that caught himself a fisherman.

That's the truth! — except that it wasn't really a fisherman, but a fisherman's wife, Mrs. Orville Williams of Wabasso.

Mrs. Williams was fishing off the Wabasso Bridge, north of Vero Beach on Florida's Atlantic coast the other night when an inquisitive snapper swam by. He ignored her baited hook, then yanked on the line. How? . . . The line had become caught around the nickel pin fastened to a Schlitz tag on his back.

Mrs. Williams jerked and giggled and pulled in the fish. Suddenly she had hooked the snapper — through the tail!

That normally would be a fish story enough, but there's more.

When she took the tagged fish to the Schlitz distributor for Zone 2 at Ft. Pierce, it was determined by a phone call from "Bob" Johnston, wholesaler, to the Tampa plant that the number of the tag carried a $1,000 value in the current Schlitz Florida Fishing Derby.

Mrs. Williams and her husband, originally from Ada, Ohio, have retired in Wabasso. They go fishing virtually every night, by lantern light, on the Wabasso bridge that crosses the Intercoastal Waterway. Williams says: "I like to fish and my wife loves it. I catch the bait—shiners—and usually hold the lantern."

A Schlitz fish with a tail worth $1,000 makes quite a fish tale. Don't you agree?

(P. S. The snapper measured 19 inches, weighed eight ounces. It is one of five Schlitz-tagged fish caught thus far this year that have carried $1,000 tags.)

*"Today we need a nation of Minute Men . . . .
citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life . . . ."*

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unrelenting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

In Deep Appreciation

Now that the crop of the Vermilion Sugar Factory, operated by Osceola Farms Co., has finished its first Grinding Season, the many Cubans who have come to live in Pahokee, Canal Point and Belle Glade wish to take this means of expressing our thanks and showing our appreciation for the warm welcome, which we have received from all the residents of these towns during the months we have been living among you.

At the same time we wish to give thanks to the Osceola Farms Company for giving us employment.

Quite a few of our sons have been born here in the Glades, and we all feel very proud that they were born in this great country, thus giving them the chance in the future of being brought up as free citizens.

We hope that as time goes on, and it is God's will that we cannot return to Cuba, that we will all settle down to live in this Glades area and that the friendships with you wonderful and kind people, which have been started, will grow and prosper. Your neighborliness and understanding has helped us so much during this most difficult period of our adjustment and we wish to take this means, through the local newspapers, in the name of all the Cubans living and working here with you, to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the welcome you have given us.

Julio Navarro,

Ben Sundy Again Seeks Board Job

County Commissioner E. F. Sundy, Delray Beach businessman and pioneer resident of Palm Beach County, this week announced he will seek re-election to the Palm Beach County Commission as a Democratic candidate in the coming May primary election.

Sundy, who represents District Four on the board, was first elected to this post in 1951. Since that time, his colleagues on the board have, on a number of occasions, picked him to serve as both chairman and vice chairman of the commission. His latest term as chairman ended in January this year.

In addition to the top commission offices, Sundy has served as chairman and as a member of various planning and study committees named by the board and his work in these research groups have led to many major improvements in all branches of county government.

Sundy, who has gained a reputation as a quiet, hard working board member, said he believes the last four years have been one of the greatest periods of development and expansion that the county has ever enjoyed.

"Efforts of the County Commission during this time," he said, "have resulted in a number of benefits. Palm Beach County has become the home of many new industries providing a boost to year-around economy; cooperation of the board has made possible the expansion of our educational facilities; a commission approved program of building and zoning standards has contributed to an orderly growth of new residential and commercial development; our parks and recreation facilities have grown with our population and our network of roads and highways is being extended as rapidly as possible to better serve our growing county."

With this same kind of leadership and by the application of plans now being drafted, Sundy said, Palm Beach County will continue to grow and prosper in the future and will maintain its spot as one of the leading and most progressive areas in the state.

One of the most needed improvements of recent years, and one to which Commissioner Sundy has devoted a great amount of time and work, is four-laning of U. S. Highway 1 in the south end of Palm Beach County. Rebuilt in the last four years, is a section of U. S. 1 through Delray Beach—a four-lane highway stretching from Boca Raton to Boynton Beach. This project is still underway with a four-laning project set through Boynton Beach and northward.

Another important project for which Commissioner Sundy has been recognized as a key man, is proposed four-laning of Atlantic Ave. in Delray Beach, from Swinton Ave. to Military Trail—a new highway which will become an important link in the county's farm to market road system.

The extension of Military Trail from Delray Beach south to Boca Raton has also proven to be a great improvement in the face of heavier traffic on county roads.

Looking to the future, Sundy reviewed some of the plans to which he has lent his support.

One of the top priority projects for the county, Sundy said, is a $15 million bond issue now being worked out to finance more road and bridge construction in the county.

These improvements, he said, will not be charged against regular channels of taxation but will instead be financed by the county's share of gasoline taxes. A number of south county road improvements are included in the bond issue, Sundy reported.

Also being finalized, are plans for four-laning State Road 808 from U. S. 1 to SR A1A in Boynton Beach. Bids for this work are scheduled to be called at the close of the winter vacation season.

To aid development of a new University at Boca Raton, the county commission, Sundy said, has supported his request to build whatever roads found necessary to serve the new college.

Improvement of Lake Ida is another project which will bring additional recreational facilities to his district, Sundy said. Dredging and filling the west side of the lake will be the first step in further development of this recreational area.

Palm Beach County, Sundy said, is one of the fastest growing areas in the state and its people are entitled to the best services and facilities the county commission can provide—but only through a program of considered economy based on a minimum of taxation.

Sundy resides at W. Atlantic Ave. in Delray Beach, is married and the father of two children.

Sundy is a member of the Baptist Church and holds memberships in the Masonic Lodge, Shrine, Elks and Kiwanis.

Price, spice and everything nice!

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example: Another: a new unitized Body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands down? (The wonder would be if you settled for anything less—once you get your hands on one at your Chevrolet dealer's!)
